About Namma HomeMade

Crafting memories and nurturing communities by bringing authentic generational legacy recipes from small home kitchens directly to your contemporary family tables.

OUR STORY

Preserving Recipes, Empowering Home-Chefs

We started Namma HomeMade with a simple belief — that the best food comes from home kitchens, made with love and the freshest ingredients. Every jar of pickle, every packet of spice powder, and every sweet we make carries the warmth of traditional recipes passed down through generations.

By connecting passionate village home-makers and culinary artisans to the modern digital market, we've kept ancient preservation secrets alive while creating proud livelihoods for families.

OUR FOUNDATION

Values that Guide Our Kitchens

Authenticity

We never compromise on traditional methods. No modern industrial machine can replicate the magic of hand-pounded, sun-dried secrets.

Quality First

Only the finest, freshest local farm products make the cut. No artificial colors, zero chemical preservatives, completely pure.

Community Roots

We exist to elevate our network of hard-working local farmers and incredibly skilled home cooks, ensuring clean profit-sharing.

OUR KITCHEN

Hand-Crafted in Tiny Batches

Behind every spicy aroma and sweet crunch is a real family. Our kitchens are sanitized, FSSAI-certified home spaces managed meticulously by moms and grandmas. Operating in batches of just 15-20 jars ensures every bite is perfectly seasoned and packed with true individual care.
